

The University of New Hampshire's Outdoor Education program presents

“ToeD Talks: Putting the OE into TED Talks since 2012”

presented at the Browne Center for Innovative Learning
Dame Road, Durham, NH
Friday, October 11th, 2013
7pm-9pm

7pm dessert potluck; please bring a dessert item to share

Presentations (10 minutes each)

The One-Day Wonder...What is the value?

This talk will explore this dilemma by watching a video featuring combat veterans who experience homelessness and mental health challenges. Featuring equine assisted learning.

Pam McPhee, OE faculty ('83) and Dave Ferruolo, MSW student and veteran

The Unsinkable Judy Brown: How to survive outdoor education by being yourself

Judy Brown, UNH OE ('86ish)

The Future of Wilderness Therapy in the United States

Michael Gass, PhD, OE faculty and founder of the UNH Outdoor Education Program

Activity & break

Outdoor Education as General Education in Higher Education

Marion Holmes McClure, UNH OE ('11G), Asst. Director of Adventure WV, West Virginia University

The Curative Force of Relationships: What works when working with kids

Tom Doherty, MSW, UNH OE ('83), Executive Director of Camp Ketcha

Responsibility: For Whom and for What?

Keith King, faculty emeritus Keene State College

Closing -- Brent Bell ('87, '05G) and Jeff Frigon ('96)